Offering The 3 Most Popular Pro Series Bats

H129

Comparable to Louisville M110

The H129 is modeled after the 110 turning model. It is ideal for a gap hitter who wants some extra “pop” to those gaps. Also an ideal bat for anyone who is just starting to hit with wood because the 1” handle gives the H129 added durability.

R111

Comparable to Louisville C243

A classic power hitters bat, the R111 is modeled after the C243. This bat is very popular to power hitters for its heavy, large barrel, which is designed to catch more balls flush on its big sweet spot.

R10

Comparable to Louisville P72

This model is closely related to the P72 “Pea shooter”. One of the main features of the R10 is the weight, as this is one of the lightest models available. The very thin handle tapers up to a small barrel that is best suited for contact hitters with very good hand-eye coordination.
